PROSECCO SPUMANTE DOC “LA CORTE DEL POZZO”

SOIL TYPE:

Hillside vineyards with clayey and limestone soils benefitting from fresh breezes.

PRUNING SYSTEM:

Guyot

GRAPE VARIETIES:

Glera

YIELD:

12 tonnes per hectare

HARVEST:

Grapes are harvested by hand within the first week of September.

WINEMAKING TECHNIQUE:

Once they have been destemmed, the grapes are pressed softly and the must is left to ferment in stainless steel tanks at a controlled temperature of at 12-15° C for 10 to 12 days. Early harvesting means that the must has the acidity necessary to keep the freshness during the second phase of fermentation that is carried out in autoclave for 3–4 months.

TASTING NOTES:

The persistent and fine perlage highlights the freshness in the mouth. The bouquet is bursting with aromas of white flowers such as jasmine and acacia. On the palate the finish has notes of bitter almond and dried fruit.

ABOUT PROSECCO “LA CORTE DEL POZZO”:

Prosecco is a wine typical of the Veneto region in the North East of Italy. It is light, aromatic and perfectly suited to many occasions. Its pleasant delicateness makes it an easy drinking wine, perfect to be shared in company and for celebrations. The grapes provided for our Prosecco are grown by a group of certified organic grape growers with a passion for the local wines of our region. Prosecco Spumante La Corte del Pozzo is the natural complement to our range of wines from Northeast Italy.
